J. R. HODGES, EARLY VALLEY PIONEER, DEAD

Former Local Judge, Plant Inspector, Dies at Hospital

Following several days of acute illness of bronchial pneumonia at the hospital, James R. Hodges, 73 years old, one of the very earliest pioneers in Covina valley, died yesterday morning shortly after 10 o'clock.

The elder Hodges, who leaves a widow, and children well known in prominent positions here and elsewhere, had been in ill health for several years, and had been retired from all activity. For many years he and his wife have lived at 322 School street. The funeral will be held tomorrow (Saturday) at three o'clock at the mortuary of Christiansen & Moore, to which the family extends an invitation especially to pioneers who knew and worked with him down thru the years.

Mr. Hodges came here in 1882. He was born in Hart county, Kentucky, 73 years ago on September 30, and as a young man came to Santa Ana, later coming to the Covina area, and was active here when the Phillips tract was laid out as a subdivision. He is credited with having brought the first orange trees into this part of the valley, many of the present orchards being the result of his ability as a nurseryman, budder and grafter.

He was one of the early justices of the peace of Rowland township when the entire valley was under one lower court jurisdiction. Later he was horticultural inspector for many years in this district, and thru his investigations was credited with the discovery of root damage from nematodes, a report over which he worked for several years, and which made the base for bulletins issued by the University of California and utilized in Utah and other states in connection with beet-growing.

Mr. Hodges was at one time an extensive owner of city property in Covina, building many of the store buildings now in use on Citrus avenue, as well as roominghouses and apartments for laborers.

At all times Mr. Hodges was a

Glendale Officer to Speak Here

Lieutenant Warwick, of the Glendale police department and a member of the executive council of the Glendale co-ordinating council, is to be the speaker at dinner meeting of the local council at Longworth's cafe on Thursday evening, January 28, at 6:30 p.m. Representatives of the various community organizations are to be present and anyone interested in the work of the group is invited to attend.

Harry Gordon, chairman, will preside and reports of the standing committees will be given, and committee appointments will be made for summer activities. Jesse Hood, who is in charge of council organization and acts in the capacity of adviser for the groups thruout the district, will make his report on work done during the past several months.

Amphion to Meet at Baxter Home

The Amphion club will meet Saturday evening, January 30, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George E. Baxter on Lorraine avenue, Glendora, with Mrs. C. B. Shoemaker acting as chairman of hostesses and assisting Mrs. Baxter.

The program for the evening will be given by Miss Bernice Altstock, contralto, who appears on frequent programs from the National broadcasting station and who was formerly the soloist in the Park avenue church in New York city. She will be accompanied by Miss Jean Howard.

FROSTED FRUIT HELD BY STATE FOR TESTING

Agricultural Code Invoked to Prevent Injury to Citrus Markets

State and county officials, moving rapidly to prevent frozen oranges from reaching commercial channels, have taken two cars of frost-damaged fruit from a train halted at Barstow, as it was enroute out of the state; have held another carload at Yermo as it was about to be moved from California, and have held thousands of boxes of fruit at packinghouses because it does not conform to standards set by the agricultural code.

Announcement of the action was made by the bureau of fruit and vegetable standardization of the department.

S. S. Rogers, chief of the bureau, is in southern California in charge of the coordinated efforts of state and county officials to prevent the marketing of damaged fruit. Several highway checking stations have been established, at which all trucks carrying citrus are stopped, and cargoes inspected.

Action follows a meeting held several days ago in San Bernardino, at which a plan was approved.

First National and Savings Banks Report

A difference in capital paid in, surplus and undivided profits as shown between the year 1935 of $92,557.07 and 1936 of $94,437.01, is indicative of the maintaining of a satisfactory level of business by First National bank of Covina, President M. Leonhardt said at the annual meeting of that institution, held last Tuesday.

Business levels were also maintained in similar ratio by the Covina Valley Savings bank, it was shown. Dividend records were consistently maintained thruout the year in both organizations.

Deposits in the First National in 1935 were $963,601, as against 1936 deposits of $1,049,724.49. Bank officials felt that the two banks reflected the gradual climb of the entire valley in business and ranch volume.

The same officials were chosen, including M. Leonhardt, president; J. D. Coles, executive vice-president; W. M. Griswold, vice-president; B. B. Jenks, cashier; George H. Carson, assistant cashier; directors, F. P. Baldosser, J. D. Coles, C. M. Elliott, J. R. Elliott, W. M. Griswold, H. M. Houser, J. O. Houser, C. J. Hurst, M. Leonhardt, Dr. W. P. Magan, and Charles Menefee.

Personnel for the savings bank includes W. M. Griswold, president; J. D. Coles, vice-president and cashier; M. Leonhardt, vice-president; M. Lucile Gloege, assistant cashier; directors, F. P. Baldosser, J. R. Elliott, W. M. Griswold, H. M. Houser, J. O. Houser, C. J. Hurst, M. Leonhardt.

COVINA CITY TAX RETURN SATISFACTORY

Half-Year Payments Keep Pace With Previous Record

Setting an all-time record, tax payments of $59,803,224 have been made by Los Angeles county taxpayers for the first half of the fiscal year just ended , it was announced yesterday by H. L. Byram, county tax collector.

Payments represent 57 per cent of the total billing of $104,477,550, the largest in the history of the county, and are $6,289,047 over the 1935 tax collections for the same period.

County school taxes, as well as municipal taxes of the cities for which the county collects the taxes, are included in the figures.

Covina city collections for the half year were $22,082.84, which represents 63.36 per cent of the year's total charge of $34,853.20. This compares with the 1935-36 half-year record which showed collections of $22,400.14, against a charge of $36,289.81, or a total of 61.73 per cent collected.

West Covina collections for the half year were $3653.29, which represents 61.16 per cent of the year's total charge of $5973.38. This compares with the 1935-36 half-year record which showed collections of $3683.00, against a charge of $6035.40, or a total of 61.02 per cent collected.

Second installment of taxes will become delinquent on April 20, at which time a delinquency penalty of 3 per cent will be charged and an advertising cost of 50 cents per parcel.

Any taxpayer having delinquent taxes may avail himself of a ten-year payment plan before April 20, 1937, by paying one-tenth of the amount of his delinquent taxes, plus interest, at the rate of 7 per cent, computed from July 1, 1935, together with the payment of the current year's taxes in full.

There are approximately 450,000 taxpayers in the county and 1,300,000 parcels of property. The number is growing each year, as new subdivisions are placed on the market. During the depression, however, a few subdivisions reverted to acreage, but the trend is definitely in the other direction now, as evidenced by new subdivision maps pending before the regional planning commission and city councils of various cities, particularly Los Angeles.

Two Prep Boys Seek Adventure in Model T

Romance and adventure in an old model T Ford is being sought by Donald White Boyer, 16, and D. C. Pritchard, 15, two students of the California Preparatory school for boys, situated near Covina, who left the school last Sunday, January 17, after purchasing the old car of a Covina dealer.

A sheriff's teletype description of the two lads was broadcast several times this week to all Pacific coast states, but up until yesterday no trace of them had been reported. In casual talk with the Covina car dealer they are reported as saying they were "headin' out for Arizona." They had rolls of bedding stowed in the back of the car.

"Just a case of wanderlust," is the way Dr. Murray Peabody Brush, headmaster, diagnosed the case yesterday. He said that one boy lives in Burbank, but did not return to his home, and the other is a Chicago boy.

California Redwoods Shown Rotarians

As a part of the program before the Covina Rotary club yesterday noon, James Chatfield, representative of the California Redwoods association, showed beautiful pictures, together with sound effects, of the great trees in the Eureka region and elsewhere, revealing the present stand of this magnificent timber, and methods of preservation that are being put into effect by the association.

The speaker was introduced by W. A. Viney of the Viney-Milliken Lumber company.

Pomona Chairman for Birthday Ball Speaks Before Rotarians in Behalf of Hospital for Crippled Children

A group of proteges of the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundaton, where infantile paralysis sufferers are treated. Below, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose birthday January 30 is inspiration for the nation-wide parties to raise funds for the fight against infantile paralysis, and Colonel Henry L. Doherty, national chairman of the ball for the fourth year.

Addressing Covina Rotary club yesterday noon at the session in Oddfellows' hall, Chauncey Perrin, former mayor of Pomona, urged members to support the valley's new institution for crippled children, financed in part by funds raised thru the President's ball in Pomona armory on the night of January 30, President Roosevelt's fifty-fifth birthday. He was introduced by Dr. G. E. Norwood, who is Covina's chairman in connection with the maintenance of this hospital.

It was revealed that Covina doctors, as well as members of that profession thruout the valley, have agreed to donate time to the care of these children who are entered at the hospital during a period of convalescence from infantile paralysis and other crippling child diseases. Many local residents will be in attendance at the Pomona ball, it was indicated.

Biggest social event at this time of year in the nation is the president's ball held in hundreds of communities, planned to aid in correction of the condition of victims of the infantile paralysis scourge, according to Mrs. Smith's report to the Rotarians. Hundreds of society leaders, theater and motion picture stars and leaders in industry are backing the fourth year of this endeavor, which will undoubtedly achieve greater success this year

Nearest institution to Covina to benefit by the president's birthday balls on Saturday night, January 30, will be Casa Colina hospital at Chino, established for crippled children, and which will receive 70 per cent of the funds raised at the ball to be held in Pomona on that night.

Thirty per cent of the funds will be turned over to the Warm Springs Foundation in Georgia, the president's personally-endowed institution for children who suffer from the aftermath of infantile paralysis, the disease which was responsible for the crippling of the president himself.

ciation of University Women in this valley have taken an interest in the furtherance of these institutions, and the president's ball in Pomona armory is being handled by a committee headed by former-Mayor Chauncey C. Perrin, with members selected from all valley communities.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION POSTPONED FOR ONE WEEK

"Program of a Progressive Life" will be the topic of the mid-year graduation address at Covina high school Friday evening, January 29 (next week), at 8 o'clock, as delivered by Rev. Herbert Booth Smith, pastor of Emmanuel Presbyterian church, Los Angeles. Exercises were postponed for one week owing to the cold weather and to illness and absence of many pupils. The schools have been closed since Tuesday because of these conditions.

Recognized by audiences thruout the southland as a clear and lucid speaker, Rev. Smith began his public speaking career at the age of twelve. A graduate of Princeton, he has attained high honors as former moderator of the Presbyterian church; member of the permanent judicial commission of that church; director and ex-president of Los Angeles Ministerial association.

VISITING FROM ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bowring of England, former residents of the valley, are arriving this week for a visit of several months with Mr. and Mrs. William Bowring of Charter Oak. The Arthur Bowrings are the owners of a large citrus ranch on East Covina boulevard.

Swiss Program Makes Hit at Men's Club

An exceptional program, which delighted the members of the Covina Men's club last Friday night, was provided by Ben Hepner, program chairman, one of which was spoken of as the best in several years.

The Fraunfelders, father and three children, Swiss musicians, gave vocal and instrumental interpretations of the songs of their native land. The father explained some of the numbers, revealing that much of the music dated back for several hundred years in the history of Switzerland. They gave many yodeling songs, which had their origin, he said, in the songs of the Swiss shepherds in the Alps, who learned to throw their voices out against the surrounding mountains to get the echo effect. They sang and interpreted songs emanating from both the German and French speaking provinces of Switzerland.

The older girl, fifteen, was the star of the group, singing the songs in a beautiful soprano voice, and playing the accordion, while her little sister sang duets with her and also played the piano. The boy, sixteen, played the clarinet and also sang duets and trios with his sisters. The elder Fraunfeld played the piano and the bass viol.

Lee Hansen, a member of the official staff of the A.A.U. that participated in the Olympics in Germany, gave an account of that memorable meet and illustrated his talk with colored motion pictures.

The meeting was the occasion when fathers brought their sons to the 6:30 supper. The Woman's clubhouse was taxed to capacity at the tables. Joe Coles, as club song leader, with Alec Anderson at the piano, led the men and boys in selected old songs.

Toastmasters Hear Budding Orators

At the meeting Tuesday evening of the Toastmasters' club, Elbert Griffith presided as chairman, with Al Rulofson as toastmaster, and Bob Craddock, Bill Leech, Bill Warren and Henry Persons as speakers, and Dr. R. P. Miller as general critic.

The club meets each Tuesday evening for dinner at Longworth's cafe.

Citrus Battle Turns to Saving Trees as Cold Records Fall

Daylight Fight Yesterday Surprise Feature; Low Temperatures to Continue Several Days

Minimum temperatures as low as sixteen above zero, expected by dawn today (Friday) were predicted yesterday afternoon and last night by Floyd D. Young, United States meterologist at Pomona, with the added statement that all orchardists are warned to heat groves to prevent serious injury to trees as well as to save the fruit. The coldest temperatures of the year, and the most dangerous since 1913 were indicated by the forecaster, following a day (Thursday) when orchardists waged a daylight battle from dawn until noon, the strangest visitation of frost in the history of the industry.

Tonight's battle against the frost must again be resumed, he declared, but giving a hope that the great blanket of cold air that swept in from Alaskan regions would begin to gradually dissipate by Saturday, although cold weather will continue for several days, he said.

Going on the air with a special warning at 1:55 yesterday afternoon, Forecaster Young declared that succeeding hours at temperatures lower than 22 above would result in defoliation of trees, and that if the orchardists did not raise temperatures by heating there could be expected a tree damage similar to the 1913 freeze. His bulletin to the Covina Fruit Exchange was of similar character.

DAYLIGHT BATTLE

With orchard heating in progress on numerous cold nights in the past two weeks, and with a stiff fight put on Monday night and Tuesday morning, ranchers were lulled to overcast skies and temperatures that remained for the most part around thirty-six until midnight. Practically no heating was done on Wednesday night, but the frost warning bureau began suddenly calling all ranchers just before dawn yesterday morning, as the glass had taken a sudden drop.

Between 6 and 7:30 yesterday morning the thermometer dropped from thirty to twenty-three, and lower in some spots. A daylight battle was begun to raise temperatures, and by 10 o'clock it was impossible to see across the street in any orchard community because of the dense smoke. Lights on Neon signs, lights in all stores and homes, and on all motor vehicles were burned until noon yesterday, when at that hour it was still twenty-nine degrees above zero on Covina's main street, with simultaneous readings in nearby orchards of twenty-seven and eight.

By 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon orchard pots were again going in lemon orchards, and nearly all ranchers lighted partially at 4 o'clock in orange groves in accordance with Floyd Young's direction. City and valley streets were busy with unprecedented number of oil-tank cars, while the users of briquets were in a panic in an attempt to obtain that fuel, supplies having been practically exhausted at the gas plants.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Schools in Covina city and valley that had been closed since Tuesday because of the cold weather and pall of smudge that made the operation of school busses dangerous, were able to furnish many high school youths, and even girls, to fill orchard pots and drive oil-tank cars.

Greatest overload in the history of the plant was reported for the Covina Associated Telephone company exchange yesterday, where

Narrow Walks Not Good Idea, Council Told

Citrus avenue property-owners don't want three feet taken from each side of the street, according to emphatic statements made by several at the meeting of the city council Monday night.

While the board had not slated action on the street widening proposal for this meeting, several of the councilmen had been making inquiries during the past few weeks in an effort to determine the feeling of property owners toward the plan.

C. W. Potter, who also represented other property owners, was most outspoken in his opposition to the plan, as were Raymond and Tom Finch, S. G. Pedersen, Olin Moody, M. L. Ed[illegible]. All contended that three feet off each sidewalk would leave it too narrow, and that the additional driving and parking space in the street would not give any material advantage.

Objections were not based on cost of the change, because under the proposed plan the city's share of the state gas tax would cover expense. While no definite action was taken at the Monday meeting, it was understood the plan would be laid on the table for the present.

In discussing traffic conditions on Citrus avenue, several merchants called attention to parking and other violations, and suggested that there be more rigid enforcement. Councilman Joe Laycook, acting as chairman in the absence of Mayor Maxfield, stated that city officials were always ready to cooperate with merchants in any effort to help make business conditions better, and if it was desired that the parking ordinance be enforced, the council would see that their wishes were carried out.

Twelve bids for the new water main were received, all of them quoting the same figure, $1.15 per foot. The council held action over to a later meeting.

Friendly Indians in Trip to Snow

Twenty-five boys from the Friendly Indian tribes of the San Gabriel valley Y.M.C.A. enjoyed a snow trip to Crystal lake last Saturday. In spite of the rain and drizzle in the valley in the morning, the weather was ideal on the mountain trip.

The local boys on the trip were: John Ernsberger, Vernon Southwell, Collins DeVol, Jimmie Hazelgrove, Kent Brannon, and Billy Metcalfe. The group was supervised by Vernon Stanfield, district secretary, and by Ralph Smeltzer, part-time helper in the east end of the district.

Lions Club Presents White Canes to Blind

Carrying out an activity that has long been a part of Lions club work in the country, two white canes were presented last Monday noon to blind Covina residents, the presentation being made by Past President James G. Hodges.

The canes were given to W. B. Clark and Mrs. Margaret Goff, with a short talk by Hodges concerning the interest that Lions club members take in aiding the blind. Mrs. Clark was accompanied to the meeting by Mrs. Long.

One of the visitors welcomed at the meeting was Dave Tiffany, formerly connected with Clyde Custer's book and art shop, now in Pasadena, and other visitors were Joe Krupp, new president of El Monte Lions, and Jim Murphy, past president. The latter is program chairman of the Lions Foothill council, and gave a talk on the advisability of attendance at council meetings. Lion Tamer Charles Short of Pomona was also present.

On Tuesday night there was a large attendance of local Lions at the Foothill council meeting in Griffith park, when a dinner and elaborate entertainment was enjoyed, and was one of the best meetings in years, according to Bill Edgett, Covina president, and George Ross, publicity chairman. A feature was the address by Luther Mack, past president of district two, Lions International.

Colorful Career Ends for David Meiklejohn

Funeral rites for David Forbes Meiklejohn, 60 years of age, for several years manager of Featherstone quarries near Covina, a consulting engineer for the Metropolitan water district, and internationally-known mining expert, will be conducted at 2 o'clock today (Friday) from the Little Church of the Flowers, under the direction of the Forest Lawn mortuary. Cremation will follow.

Mr. Meiklejohn, a native of Salt Lake City, had lived in California 24 years. He died Tuesday at Hawthorne hospital, Los Angeles. He spent fifteen years in the state of Guanajuato, Mexico, where he was active in the development of gold-silver properties in La Luz, Marfil and Guanajuato, among them the Colmena mine, one of the richest producers during the era of President Porfirio Diaz.

He was a graduate of Stanford university, and a close friend of former President Herbert Hoover.

During the time the family lived in Covina, his sons attended the local high school, where one of them, David, was prominent in baseball. The latter is now sports editor of the Pomona Progress-Bulletin. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Theodora Meiklejohn, and the two sons,

PRIVATE SALES INCREASE ANALYZED IN REPORT FOR COVINA ORANGE GROWERS

Valencia oranges shipped by Covina Orange Growers association commanded the highest prices in the market, and gave consumer satisfaction thruout the entire season, Henry Hepner, manager of that organization, reported at the annual meeting, held last Saturday at the packinghouse.

During a visit which the manager made to eastern markets last fall, the jobbers were strong in their praise of the brands packed by this association, he said. They had oftentimes during the season paid prices for the association's small fruit that larger sizes had brought during the entire season. Partly because of the quality of the association's valencias there was a decided increase in private sales as related to public auction, an increase of nine per cent sold at private sale over that of the previous season.

NAVELS DIFFICULT

In common with most of the associations in this locality, the Covina Orange Growers association during the navel season experienced many difficulties, and the season was unsatisfactory in many respects. First arrivals of the navels last year was at a time when the east was experiencing the coldest weather in fifty years. It was so cold that many cars could not be opened for days because of danger of freezing. This bad weather subsided, and the navels began to bring satisfactory prices, but rainy weather commenced in California and seriously affected the picking schedule, causing a shortage of shipments. Because of small amount on the market, the navels began to bring the highest prices of the season. When the weather cleared, all growers in southern California were anxious to get fruit to market, especially when water rot began to appear in alarming percentage in the navels. The Covina association used extreme care in packing, with the result that packing costs were increased, but was fortunate in avoiding any great amount of decay in transit, and the Covina organization was able to maintain the confidence of the private sales trade, he said.

The navel orange crop last year at the start of the season was small, and this, together with the loss from the dropping of the fruit, caused water rot, resulted in a season that was very unsatisfactory, so far as the navels were concerned, the report stated.

"It was generally conceded that many of our ills, one being the [illegible] could directly attributed to the black scale infestation which was so general," the manager said.

In many ways the valencia crop was a great contrast to the navels, the manager said. The fruit from this district commanded the highest prices in years, and gave satisfaction thruout the season, he said.

PRIVATE SALES

On navels, the field boxes received for the year were 74,720 boxes: miscellaneous, 1,794; valencias, 93,339; grapefruit, 1,568; total of all varieties, 171,421 boxes. Sixty-nine per cent of the fruit was sold at private sales in January of last year, and this increased to ninety per cent in March; to ninety-six in August, and was eighty-three per cent in October, the last month of sales.

The Sunkist average per packed box on navels was $2.01; on miscellaneous, $1.87; on valencias, $2.96; and grapefruit, $2.64. Net returns to the growers per field box on navels was $0.705; miscellaneous, $0.509; valencias, $1.319; grapefruit, $0.764. The total net returns amounted to $51,376.98 for navels; $913.54 for miscellaneous; $123,210.88 for valencias; $1,198.01 for grapefruit. The returns as quoted are net to the grower above all costs, including picking and hauling.

ONE ADDED TO BOARD

The old board of directors was re-elected with one additional member, C. F. Hassheider, making the board at present as follows: president, J. O. Houser; vice-president, W. M. Griswold; treasurer, H. M. Houser; secretary, Henry Hepner; C. E. Blanchard, W. L. Griffiths, I. D. Houser, John A. Koch, M. Leonhardt, D. J. Pitzer, R. A. White. The manager is Henry Hepner, with H. T. Casey, foreman; Della Arthur, bookkeeper; Myrtle Bierly, stenographer; Lester Crouse, receiver.

TRIBUTE TO EVANS

The manager's annual report took occasion to give a tribute to the memory of A. R. Evans, for thirty-one years president of the association, who died on January 19, 1936. Mr. Evans also served the board as member of the Covina Fruit Exchange, of which he was president for fourteen years. The report spoke of him as follows:

"A man of unfailing generosity and sympathetic kindness, and thru these qualities he inspired the affection and regard of his associates and friends. He was a [illegible] $15 [illegible]. This, but was also an exponent of progress and improvement, and in addition to business affairs, Mr. Evans took an active part in church and community matters. He will be missed greatly by the friends whom he gained thru these activities."

Azusa Banks Name Stair as President

J. B. Stair was re-elected president of the First National Bank of Azusa and of the Azusa Valley Savings bank at the annual meeting of the two institutions Monday morning, January 11.

All other officials were re-elected to their offices in the two institutions. The complete list is:

First National bank—J. B. Stair, president; C. A. Griffith, vice-president; E. H. Philleo, executive vice-president and cashier; William J. Holden, assistant cashier; Jere B. Stair, assistant cashier; L. G. Anderson, assistant cashier; Ruth D. Laws, assistant to the president; H. Allison, Henry Damerel, C. F. Gordon, C. A. Griffith, T. F. Heth, A. Hummel, E. H. Philleo, Oliver S. Powell, J. B. Stair, and Charles O. Wright, directors.

Azusa Valley Savings bank—J. B. Stair, president; M. T. Durrell, vice-president; E. H. Philleo, vice-president; William J. Holden, cashier; George R. Mayland, assistant cashier; M. H. Durrell, T. F. Heth, A. Hummel, E. H. Philleo, Oliver S. Powell, J. B. Stair, and Charles O. Wright, directors.

The Azusa Valley Savings bank declared a four per cent dividend to the stockholders in December, while the First National bank declared a two per cent dividend. The financial position of the two institutions was found to be in excellent condition and an increase in applications for loans was an indication that the circulation of money will be increased during the coming year.

Board Informs Employers of Accident Law

Industrial accident commission is calling attention of employers in this area to the provision of the workmen's compensation act which requires the carrying of workmen's compensation insurance for all employees other than those engaged in household domestic service in the private home of the employer; laborers on farms with a payroll of less than $500 per year; interstate transportation by railroad; maritime commerce and work which is not in the employer's regular business which does not exceed $100 in labor cost or ten days' work.

Commissioner Charles A. Son says all employers should know the law, especially that section which provides that upon the wilful failure of an employer to protect his employees by compensation insurance, in the event of injury to or death of an employee from injury while on duty, he shall pay to the employee or his beneficiaries a sum 10 per cent in excess of the amount otherwise payable.

OFF THE RECORD with ASSEMBLYMAN GERALD KEPPLE

California maintains a population of more than 20,000 persons in seven state hospitals and the home for disabled veterans at Yountville; over 10,000 more in three state prisons, two homes for mentally deficient children, one for narcotic addicts, and three schools for delinquent boys and girls. Yet some of these institutions are so overcrowded that a considerable portion of the increased budget this year calls for institutional building expenditure which can no longer be ignored. And condemnation proceedings have already been started for a new state prison site in southern California.

Have just visited three state institutions within a radius of 75 miles of Sacramento. (Suggest that if you are feeling depressed or have any misgivings about the ultimate end of the human race you refrain from thoroughly "doing" more than one state hospital for the insane per week).

Home for disabled veterans at Yountville is one of thirty-three state veterans' homes in the United States. It was started by the G. A. R. in 1880 and taken over by the state in 1900. Disabled veterans of all wars are cared for but must have lived in California continuously for six years immediately preceding entrance. Included are 10 G. A. R. veterans, all about 95 years of age. The federal government contributes $120 per man per year. Located on 913 acres in beautiful Napa valley. Has a marvelous and modern hospital, two modern fireproof barracks; three more barracks and a mess hall of 1880 wooden construction—extreme fire hazards in spite of every precaution. Old barracks in which over half the men sleep are three stories high, rotting at the foundations; men sleeping in attic and basement on dirt floor—crowded and under conditions you wouldn't keep cattle. There are no adequate fire escapes and if a fire ever starts in one of these old barracks at night hundreds of men will burn like rats.

Old barracks were condemned by the state fire warden three years ago but the commandant says, "What are you going to do?" The new budget calls for about $500,000 for new construction, part of which comes from income from boxing and wrestling. They need a million. Voters turned down a bond issue for this purpose two years ago when tied up with a number of other bonding propositions.

Napa state hospital. Dates back to 1873 and crowded with 4500 insane. A beautiful setting in the midst of 2000 acres. The main building is one of the most remarkable I have ever seen. Built in 1873 of brick construction and is still in good condition. Must cover acres of ground, several stories high, and looks like an old Moorish castle. Many beautiful and modern buildings have been added but infirmary facilities are woefully inadequate and several buildings are comparable to the barracks at Yountville.

Four hundred insane women are penned inside a high wire fence and live in little wooden bunk houses, inch thick walls, thrown together as temporary quarters when the women were brought to Napa from Agnew after the earthquake in 1906. Ten minutes inside these quarters and you'll come out talking to yourself.

Money Orders Accepted for Tax Payments

Taxpayers of Los Angeles county will pay in approximately $40,000,000 to the county treasury during the next three months, it was estimated today by Tax Collector H. L. Byram as second installment taxes became due and payable.

Exactly three months, or until April 20, is allowed for payment of second installments, before a 3 per cent penalty is added. Penalty of 8 per cent already has been added to first installment taxes that were not paid by December 5, Byram explained.

Taxes may be paid by postoffice money order, which gives the taxpayer a receipt, and makes it unnecessary to stand in line. This applies particularly to residents outside the Los Angeles downtown district, because a trip to the city costs many times more than would a money order, a bank draft or a certified check, the tax collector explained.

A total of 57.67 per cent of the county's total tax bill of $104,477,000 was collected by December 5.

Lighter Citrus Shipments Boost Prices

Increase of approximately thirty-three and a third per cent in the average price of navel oranges resulted last week from the lighter shipments of California oranges due to the cold weather, according to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

Sales, on the other hand, were about 25 per cent lighter, the Exchange reported, so that the net result appeared to be that growers would receive more money for the smaller amount of fruit shipped.

The lemon market was reported to be much stronger last week, with prices showing a fairly sharp advance. The improvement in demand was due to prevalent colds and influenza in other sections of the country.

Navel oranges from California advanced 73 cents a box last week, making the average for the week $3.54. Sales totaled 184 carloads for the week, which was 101 cars less than for the previous week.

Lemons advanced 71 cents a box for an average of $5.57 for the week. Sales totaled 110 carloads, or the same as for the previous week.

This week's prorate allowed southern California 795 cars of navels in interstate commerce, and 200 cars in intrastate trade. Northern California was to ship but five cars of navels in interstate commerce, and 25 cars in intrastate trade.

China Painting Given Impetus at High School

Considerable interest has been shown thruout the valley in the china-painting class, under the sponsoring of the high school education program, held at the grammar school every Thursday afternoon at 2:15 p.m.

This class in conducted by Mrs. Jessie Shade of Pomona, who has studied art in both Chicago and New York city and has conducted classes of this type for the past twelve years in nearby cities.

Luncheon and dinner sets are being decorated and many students are painting odd pieces or matching sets of china which are no longer made in factories and can only be replaced by hand work. For the past two years the Covina class has exhibited its work at the Los Angeles county fair and on January 4 three members displayed completely-set tables at the high school forum meeting. This class is open to the public and can be joined at any time.

Announcing TWO NEW GMC's

● Two big, new GMC half-tons and a 1½-2 ton—each with many exceptional quality features including advanced stream-styling.

One glance at these distinctive GMC "truck-built" vehicles and buyers agree that their advanced styling sets a new standard. Careful inspection, test and comparison quickly establishes the fact that these new quality GMC's are exceptional values at their extremely low prices—because of their many features that definitely assure maximum economy, stamina and performance.

In the half-ton range, there is a GMC with either 112-inch or 126-inch wheelbase. Both are available with pickup or panel bodies of bigger than average size—the 126-inch wheelbase, for instance, accommodates a panel body 8 ft. 5 in. long or a pickup body 7 ft. 7 in. long. In the 1½-2 ton range, there's the many-feature GMC in several wheelbases and with standard bodies to fit. Truck buyers are urged to get the GMC story before selecting any truck. For downright value you can safely invest your truck dollars in a GMC with complete assurance of getting an unmatched value.

WINTER MEMORIES

Go with me back in memory
To those days of long ago,
To the winters of our boyhood
When the land was white with snow,
When the woodland trees were leafless
And the streams a sheet of ice,
With the air so chill and frosty
That it gave us zest and spice.

With bobsleds and toboggans
We would mount the steepest hills,
Tumbling in the snow drifts
Only brought us greater thrills,
The glitter of the snowflakes
Brought new sparkle to our eyes,
Gave color to our faces
And the health that youngsters prize.

Even the chores at evening
Seemed to come with greater ease,
Tho' the stove wood stuck together
And the barnyard pump would freeze,
Every board we stepped on crackled
And it always sounded cold,
But we didn't seem to mind it
In those boyhood days of old.

But the fireplace in the evening,
With the family sitting by,
Is the thought that stirs my memory
And brings a teardrop to my eye;
Yes, the snow swished at the windows
But it was nice and warm inside,
And I still can feel the comfort
Of that home at eventide.

—W. E. W.

But we didn't have the smudge back there.

Motty Lorensen, who spent a couple of years in Covina but is now living in the east, sends me a clipping from the Rock Island (Illinois) Argus, showing the Associated Press illustration of Verne Jobe tending his orchard heaters that is being published in papers thruout the country. In his letter Motty says, "Smudge or not, I would rather be in Covina right now and before 1937 is over I am going to be out there again."

Here's one for Ripley. Monday I was talking to Colonel Dan Smith and during the conversation he started to make a notation on a card for me but there was no ink in his pen. Imagine an insurance agent with no ink in his pen!

The chances are that Fay Peden will never again be left alone to take care of his little daughter Beverly. One night last week Elmarie left Beverly with him while she attended a social function her lodge was giving. Sizing Beverly up, Fay decided she would look better without the curls her mother took such pride in, so he got the shears and started in. Not being a barber, he slashed the curls off straight, but he decided that something was wrong and what is needed was a sort of taper and so he began snipping here and there, each snip calling for another, until there wasn't any more hair to snip. Realizing what he had done and fearing what would happen when Elmarie came home, he put the child to bed, thinking that his wife would not notice what he had done and that he could get out to work the next morning before he had to face the music. But he was out of luck. Perhaps it will be just as well if I don't tell the rest of the story.

I notice in the papers that up in Washington the Townsend club has given one of its members $200 to spend inside of a month and that at the end of the first day he had spent only $49.59. If the Covina club wants to try that experiment I will gladly offer my services—and I'll promise that the two hundred bucks will be gone before noon.

Max Goheen was in Henry Brandon's beauty shop. What he was doing there I don't know, but that has nothing to do with this yarn. According to Max, Henry was looking out of the window and every time he saw someone on the other side of the street he would remark, "There goes so-and-so." After a while it got under Max's skin. "Say," he said, "do you talk about everybody that goes along on that side of the street?" "Sure," Henry came back at him, "as soon as they hear about it they won't walk over there and it makes it easier for me to get them up here."

Speaking of beauty parlors and getting into the vernacular of TownChatter, Walter Winchell and other of the minor columnists: Which one of the beautiful beauty parlor operators is it that is expecting?

I'm all riled up again. Every time I pick up a Los Angeles paper and read about those marine strikers being on the dole it makes me mad. Here I am, like thousands of others, trying to pay for a roof over my head and digging up my share of taxes without a murmur (until now) and then find that part of it is being given to men who have quit their jobs and refuse to work, men who have been making a durn sight more than I am. Because of their strike I am having to pay more for many of the things I eat and the business from which I draw my pay is being curtailed on account of the uncertainty they have caused in the commercial interests of California, and yet they have the nerve to demand that I help feed them. I don't mind their striking if they want to. That's their own business. But I do object to their dragging me into it.

Chuck Ham says he got that shot in the leg while attending the Lions club luncheon Monday. It may be, but knowing Chuck, Idono, Idono.

WHEN FICTION COMES TRUE

Probably many of my readers remember Alexander Botts, the "Earthworm" tractor salesmen who brightened the pages of the Saturday Evening Post several years ago. Alexander Botts was a super-salesman who was never stopped by man or nature when he started out to sell a tractor and, like the Canadian Mounties, he always got his man.

And now Covina has an Alexander Botts who puts Botts to shame, and the story is really true. Two or three months ago Harry Farason, Cletrac distributor in Covina and Pomona, called on A. C. Childs, proprietor of the Mt. Wilson hotel and gave him the highlights on the Cletrac tractor. Last week when the snow made it impossible for the traveling public to reach the hostelry operated by Mr. Childs, Harry began to think of Alexander Botts. Alexander, said Harry to himself, would take a tractor up there and show Mr. Childs how he could open the road and the result would be a sale.

Dressing himself for the trip, Harry started out for Mt. Wilson. He drove to within five miles of the hotel and had to walk the rest of the way in thru heavy snow and drifts. To say that Mr. Childs was surprised to see him would be putting it mildly. Like the stories in the Post, he was in a jam and was losing $100 a day because his customers could not get to him. The county road department had assured him that if he would clear the parking space at his hotel so there would be no danger of autoists being marooned they would open the road up the side of the mountain. Harry unwound his Alexander Botts line and convinced the hotel owner that the only thing that would save him was a Cletrac and a bulldozer. Result, Harry came home with a $3000 order, conditional upon his getting the tractor and snow-pusher up there the next day.

And then was when the real spirit of Alexander Botts came to the rescue. Harry had the tractor but he had no bulldozer in stock and could not get one in time from any of the company warehouses. But he had a friend in Glendora who had a bulldozer he was not using so he went over there and borrowed it, brought it to his Covina shop and fitted it to the Cletrac. Before daylight the next morning he was on his way to Mt. Wilson and by nightfall the parking space had been cleared and Harry Botts Farason was on the way back to Covina with the usual grin on his face and a substantial check in his pocket. The only thing that worried him was that Mr. Childs kept telling him, while he was clearing the parking space, to be careful of the berm, and Harry had no idea what a berm is. (I didn't know what it was either, but I do now. I looked it up).

As long as I am at it I am going to present this week's flowers to Harry. When I first came to Covina he was acting as Covina manager for a tractor agency and the owners were trying to get him to buy it so they could retire from the business. But in some things Harry is slow to act—I know, because I have been trying to sell him a page ad for five years. He went ahead selling tractors right and left, but it was two years later before he finally took over the business for himself. Since then he has forged to the front as one of the most progressive tractor dealers in southern California, and when the opening developed in the Pomona agency the manufacturers almost forced him to take it over.

What has done all this? His pleasant personality, his square dealing, and his willingness to work night and day if necessary, to make his business a success. Perhaps this sounds like a commercial writeup but it isn't. It is my bouquet to a man who really deserves it.

Mrs. Hostetler, Valley Pioneer, Laid to Rest

Mrs. Hattie L. Hostetler, for over fifty years a resident of this valley, passed away at midnight Sunday at the Covina hospital. Mrs. Hostetler suffered a stroke and a severe fall at her home on Cypress avenue on Friday of last week, and never regained consciousness.

She was the oldest of the four children of Silas B. and Elizabeth G. Lindsley and was born February 21, 1851, near Baltimore, Maryland.

In her girlhood Mrs. Hostetler lived in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, where her father taught school. She had many reminiscences of the Civil war, in which her father served.

October 25, 1874, she was married to Dr. C. M. L. Hostetler at Lovington, Illinois, and they made their home there until 1886, when, with a large party of friends and relatives from that section of Illinois, they came to California.

Dr. Hostetler was one of this district's pioneer physicians, and was one of the first elders of Glendora Christian church, of which he and his family were charter members. This church met in a house at what is now the north end of Citrus avenue.

Mrs. Hostetler's life was entirely centered in her religion.

Homer L. Hostetler, her only child, survives her.

Services were held at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Covina Christian church, Rev. Francis M. Arant giving the final tribute. Hymns were rendered by Mrs. J. F. King, violinist, and Mrs. H. A. Werden, organist. Those serving as pallbearers were William Found, H. A. Curtis, B. F. Swartz, P. E. Stanton, H. A. Werden, and I. O. Brittain.

Interment was made at Oakdale cemetery, where Dr. Hostetler was buried in 1890.

CHICKENS DISGUSTED

Valley ranchers reported yesterday morning at at the heighth of the smoke period, chickens moped in the murky light, and becoming disgusted with the weather, returned to the roosts and remained there until noon.

"GARDEN OF ALLAH" FEATURE AT FOX-POMONA THEATER SUNDAY

Opening on Sunday at the Fox-Pomona theater, "The Garden of Allah" comes in to add new lustre to the movies by its exceptionally fine cast and the beautiful use of newly-perfected technicolor. Marlene Dietrich and Charles Boyer have the lead roles in the picture, which is taken from Robert Hichen's widely-read novel.

As the preview feature on the program, "Off to the Races," with the Jones family, has been booked. This is the picture that was filmed almost entirely on the grounds of the Los Angeles county fair, with many Pomona valley residents in it.

To Children of Second Generation

Or Rather, to the Second Generation of Children

NOTE—Following is a continuation of a series of letters which have been written for the Argus children by Mrs. Eva D. Edwards, formerly principal of the Covina grammar schools, concerning her around-the-world trip last summer.

PARIS

"Paris is a woman's town
With flowers in her hair!"

Or Paris was. It seemed to me that Paris was not half so gay and happy as when I saw her last, twelve years ago. Always I shall remember Paris best as we know her right after the Armistice in 1918—with soldiers of all the allied nations swarming her streets, the captured cannon piled in the great Place de la Concorde, and everywhere the air of hard-won victory. But now I think Paris is frightened. She can never be far enough from her age-old enemy, Germany, to be comfortable.

But it was a very wonderful experience to hunt up the places I had known so well in those troubled years of 1918 and '19. Always I kept wondering—where are they now—those men and women with whom I served in the A.E.F.?

The street noises of Paris are not like those of any other city in the world. They do not seem to change. There are not so many wooden shoes clattering any more, but there are the same old claxon horns on the taxis and the same mad dashing to keep out from under them! And the calls of the cheese mongers and fruit sellers crying their wares are as musical as bits of light opera.

One never has all the time one wants to devote to the Louvre. This is one of the most famous art galleries in the world. The originals of many of the pictures you have known all your lives are in this huge, quiet building. It always gives me a thrill to know that from this beautiful picture of "The Angelus" have come all the millions of copies, good and bad, in the world. "The Gleaners," too, and the "Mona Lisa," that no one seems to understand—their colorings and beauty perfect. And there are so many of these wonderful pictures. When you go there, as I hope you will some day, you will find yourself saying many times, "Oh, I know that one!"

Of the statuary you would best remember "The Winged Victory" of Samothrace. It is huge—greater than life-size—and with head, arms, feet, all missing. Yet I have never seen any other statue that had so much life and motion in it. For this is a very old statue and has had to be pieced together from broken fragments, just as was done with the Venus de Milo.

The old city of Paris was on an island in the Seine river. This river goes right thru the present city. The places are so often spoken of as being on the right bank or the left bank. There are wonderful avenues whose names would sound very strange to you. The Arc de Triumph (Arch of Triumph) has such a tremendous history clinging about it that it is a very important part of Paris. Many events are told in the carvings and inscriptions on it. Under its great arch it shelters the grave of the Unknown Soldier. At the head of this tomb burns a constant flame which is never to be allowed to go out. This flame arises from a great bronze bowl which is sunk in the bronze of the slab that covers the grave. On this tomb one always sees beautiful wreaths with cards on them from kings and queens and great folk from all over the world. Always, too, there are little tight bouquets of field flowers. I wonder who placed them there? There are never any cards on them.

There are a number of grand old cathedrals—Notre Dame, perhaps the most famous; St. Chappelle, to me the most beautiful; the Madeline, the most interesting; and the Sacre Coeur, the most amazing. Many long pages could be written about each of them.

The Place de Concorde (Place of Peace, which it hasn't always been) is a great space in the midst of the city. Around it are huge statues, one for each province of France. Flowers are always kept on these statues. But the first time I saw them, in 1919, one of the them, the statue for Alsace-Lorraine, was draped in black, and had been for several years. There were no flowers on it. When I saw it the next time the black had been replaced with flowers. Can you find out why? Some of your fathers marched thru those streets in 1917, 1918 and 1919. Ask them about it.

Whenever you see a moving picture of Paris you always recognize it at once by the great Eiffel tower. It really is a wonderful landmark, but Paris doesn't consider it very beautiful. Do you know what it was used for during the world-war? A great radio center.

I have not said a word about the book stalls, nor the dress shops, nor Napoleon's tomb, nor hundreds of other places in Paris. You must hunt them up in the city library if you are interested. They are worth it. My letters get too long. Next comes London.

AZUSA WATER COMPANY WILL AID SPREADING

Pioneer Irrigating Concern Holds Annual Meeting, Elects Board

Azusa Irrigating company, oldest and largest mutual water company in the valley, held its annual meeting last Saturday, January 16, in the city hall at Azusa, closing a year with reports that showed a successful operation of the company's affairs.

On account of the cold weather, when all ranchers were obliged to fight an attack of frost, the meeting had been postponed from Saturday, January 9, but the annual turkey dinner was held on the previous date.

A considerable discussion was held concerning water conditions thruout the valley, especially as regards the proposed purchase of 520 acres of land at the mouth of the San Gabriel canyon to be utilized as water spreading grounds. The stockholders were largely in favor of the plan and authorized the board of directors to enter into an investigation of it in common with several other irrigating companies.

The plan to buy this property is the same as was discussed at the recent meeting of the Covina Irrigating company, and the same authorization was given to the Azusa stockholders as that of the action at the Covina meeting. Irrigating companies in Glendora and in other nearby communities taking water from the canyon are also to take similar action, it was stated. The property in question is owned by the Vosburg-McNeil interests in Azusa.

The old board of directors was elected by the Azusa company, as follows: Thomas F. Heth, president; E. B. Griffith, vice-president; P. A. Mucks, secretary; Harry Gordon, Irven G. Reynolds, F. P. Baldosser, Dan B. Jamieson, C. D. Griffiths.

Mecca

By GENE CHRISTIANSEN

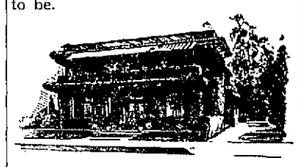

To the people of the far East, Mecca is the convergence of all spiritual faith. I like to think of Mecca as being the powers within myself. I have been created in the image of God and therefore must have some of the attributes of God.

God has made manifest within my body all the finer qualities of the animal kingdom. He has given me the power of discrimination. He has given me a brain with which I may decide the difference between right and wrong, and the pleasure of giving. He has endowed me with intelligence, with which I may understand my fellowmen. I am equipped with a will, that power plant within my soul which, if used, may change me from a weakling to a giant.

Mecca is the faith I have in my ability to make use of the attributes which I possess. The great man of the hour has not been created differently, but has made greater use of his faith in himself. Man is accepted on the estimate of himself, if this estimate is based on accomplishments which he himself has to his credit, then his fame will be certain.

Mecca is the ultimate of all things and is found in yourself. Make use of it. It will change any man from what he is to what he would like to be.

Colt Varsity Short-Ended in League Tilts

Butter Gorrell's varsity hoopsters dropped two league basketball tussles in short order last week, when the red and white fell an easy prey to the sharp-shooting Terriers of John Muir Tech last Friday and slumped before Hoover high's Golden Tornadoes on Tuesday afternoon.

The game with the Pasadena aggregation was held on the local court and was featured by some heads-up ball playing on the part of such long-time lettermen as Jackie Robinson, Don and Bob Winton of Muir. Robinson, this year at a forward post instead of guard, led his team on to an easy win. However, Bob Shaw, Colt center, turned in a brilliant performance, and Louie Gysin grabbed highest scoring honors for the local outfit. Incidentally, the final score favored Tech 26-51.

Tuesday's game was held at Hoover high in Glendale. Disheartened by their lashing at Muir's hands, the Colts let the Tornadoes put over a 36-11 surprise.

Japanese Women Prepare Dinner at West Covina

The Japanese women of the West Covina Parent-Teacher association prepared a dinner in their own fashion and served it for the members and families of the other members last evening. The affair was held at the West Covina clubhouse. This is an annual affair and one that is looked forward to.

Following the dinner, Shig Hashimoto, as master of ceremonies, presented a program. Itabayashi Sen Sei of the Baldwin Park Japanese school gave a talk, and the ondo (a dance) was given by fifteen Japanese girls. Mr. Nishihara gave numbers on the Japanese flute, and the odori was given by Matenye Takao. A group of Japanese from West Covina gave a kendo (fencing) exhibition. Miss Sachi Tamaki of the high school gave a short talk, and there were magic tricks performed by Mr. Kameishi that fascinated the children as well as the grownups. Mr. Yamashita gave a typical Japanese dance, the Yasuki Bushi odori, and Mrs. Yoshimura also gave a dainty Japanese dance. Another odori was given by a group of West Covina girls and there were several other short and typical numbers by various groups and closing speech made by the master of ceremonies.

Jury Disagrees in Covina Crash Case

Unable to agree on a verdict, a jury deliberating in the case of Louis Blembel of Hollywood, former chauffeur for motion picture stars who was charged with negligent homicide, was discharged Monday night in Superior Judge Joseph Vickers' court. The jury had been out most of the day.

Judge Vickers ordered Blembel returned to court Thursday of this week when a date would be set for another trial.

Blembel was charged with negligent homicide as result of a traffic accident last August 30 that cost the life of Miss Roberta McLellan, 18-year-old Covina high school girl. The accident happened on the west slope of the Kellogg hill, when Blembel's machine crashed into the rear of the car in which Miss McLellan was riding with Mrs. Jean Miller of 203 Cottage Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Wolfarth had as luncheon guests on Thursday Mrs. Addie Beckett, Mrs. B. Burgan, Mrs. Liljeberg and Mrs. Simms, all of Minneapolis. Mrs. Beckett remained over for an indefinite time with her cousin, Mrs. Wolfarth.

Quickest Way to Ease a COLD

1 Take 2 Bayer Aspirin tablets with a full glass of water.

2 If throat is sore also, gargle with 3 Bayer tablets in ½ glass of water.

The modern way to ease a cold is this: Two Bayer Aspirin tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Repeat, if necessary, in two hours. If you also have a sore throat as a result of the cold, dissolve 3 Bayer tablets in ½ glass of water and gargle with this twice. The Bayer Aspirin you take internally will act to combat fever, aches, pains which usually accompany a cold. The gargle will provide almost instant relief from soreness and rawness of your throat. Your doctor, we feel sure, will approve this modern way. Ask your druggist for genuine Bayer Aspirin by its full name — not by the name "aspirin" alone.

Last Rites for Mrs. Martin at Baldwin Park

Mrs. Isabell Martin passed away January 16 at her home at 1020 South Vineland avenue, Baldwin Park, at the age of 77. At her bedside were two sons, Grover and Asbury Martin, a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Hengst, and a son-in-law, Herman Hengst, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hulda Martin, all of Baldwin Park. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Parlee Martin, and other children, S. R. Donegan of Glenwood Springs, Colorado; Mrs. Mae Griggs of Dinuba, thirteen grandchildren, and seven great grandchildren.

The remains were moved to Visalia, accompanied by the son-in-law, where services were held Tuesday and interment made at Exeter beside those of her husband. Other members of the family went by auto to Visalia to attend the last rites.

Mrs. Martin came to California thirty years ago and has made her home with her son, Asbury, for the past eight years. She was a devout member of the Foursquare Gospel church in Covina, where she was active until ill health prevented her giving of strength.

Lutherans to Be Heard Over Air Networks

Beginning Sunday the Lutheran church of the Missouri synod will broadcast over KHJ the Lutheran hour program originating in KFUO, St. Louis.

KFUO is owned and operated by the Lutheran church and is recognized in eastern circles as a producer of meritorious programs. The Lutheran hour has won acclaim of radio fans in the east, where it is considered one of the best religious programs on the air. Restricted in its accessibility to the eastern states, it has not become so well known locally. The change in station hookups effective the first of this year makes possible the release of this program by direct wire from the key-station.

Local Lutherans rejoice over this announcement, since the Lutheran hour speaker, Dr. Walter A. Maier, is a convincing speaker, a leader in his line, and a recognized authority. With him on the program will be heard a select number of young men from the theological seminary of the Lutheran church located at St. Louis also. They will render appropriate chorals of the church.

The program will reach southern California between the hours of 1:30 and 2 every Sunday afternoon.

Griffith Named ACG Exchange President

C. A. Griffith, manager of the Azusa Foothill Citrus company, was re-elected president of the Azusa-Covina-Glendora Fruit Exchange at the annual meeting of the association.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot. . . . Thou wilt shew me the path of life." These words of the Psalmist were the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon was this verse from Deuteronomy: "All the commandments which I command thee this day shall ye observe to do, that ye may live, and multiply, and go in and possess the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers." Another selection cited these verses about Jesus, from Matthew: "And, behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life? And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Jesus urged the commandment, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me,' which may be rendered: Thou shalt have no belief of Life as mortal; thou shalt not know evil, for there is one Life,—even God, good."

Mrs. Huntington Resigns as Head of Red Cross

After nine years of service as chairman of the Red Cross in Covina, Mrs. J. T. Huntington has resigned from that capacity. It is with regrets, Mrs. Huntington said, that due to limited strength she must retire from active work in this field.

In the early days of the organization in Covina, funds were collected at tables on the street, and during the late years the community chest has been budgeted to cover the work of the Red Cross.

Mrs. Huntington has been untiring in her efforts. Whenever a need arose and a call for assistance was issued, it was met without delay thru the efforts of this woman, who has been considered one of the most valuable assistants working thru the headquarters at Los Angeles.

A new chairman has not yet been found who can fill the vacancy made by Mrs. Huntington's resignation.

Lucille White Now Enroute to Honolulu

Mrs. Horace White (Lucille Matthews) left Saturday night by train for Vancouver, where she embarked on a British ship to return to her home in Honolulu. Mrs. White has been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Matthews of Navilla Place, for some weeks, during their illness.

Mrs. White arrived by the China Clipper, coming by air because of the delay in the sailing of ships on the regular lines. Her return to her home by way of Vancouver was also necessitated, due to the failure of American ships sailing from ports along our coastline.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Matthews are convalescing from their recent illnesses, Mrs. Matthews still confined to the house but able to be about, and Mr. Matthews slowly gaining strength and able to be up and about the house for short intervals.

Bank of America Enters Glendora

A charter has been granted the Bank of America National Trust and Savings association to open a branch of that institution in Glendora by J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, Washington, D. C., according to an announcement by L. M. Giannini, president of the bank. A charter was also granted to open a branch in Corona.

"We are negotiating for a central location for our new branch in Glendora," said Giannini, "and hope to make a definite announcement soon. We are desirous of opening for business at the earliest possible date, that Bank of America's service may be locally available in that community."

'Red Network' Theme

On Tuesday the council of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at the Palm hotel in Los Angeles with Judge Ruth as speaker. He called the theme of his talk "The Red Network," and gave pertinent facts. In attendance from Covina were Mrs. E. G. Prather, Mrs. C. R. McCall, Mrs. William Warren, Mrs. A. F. Bushby, and Mrs. Jack Dean.

Overholtzer Talks to Missionary Club

The Irwindale Miscellany club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. B. M. Lewis on Glendora avenue, where the twenty-five members were entertained by an informal talk by Mrs. J. P. Overholtzer, who has recently returned from a four-months' visit to the orient. Mrs. Overholtzer told of the flowers of Japan and China, of their unusual beauty and color, and of the novel arrangement of the blooms by these artistic peoples.

Mrs. Lewis was assisted in serving tea by Mrs. W. L. Cooper and Mrs. Edwin Jobe.

SOCIETY CLUBS PERSONALS

Club Program Will Feature Pianist

Miss Margaret Steckel of San Diego, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Steckel of Barranca street, is to be the featured artist on the program at the regular meeting of the Woman's club on Monday at 2 o'clock.

She is a student of Lyell Barbour, internationally-known concert pianist of Escondido, who has traveled on concert tours of most of the countries of Europe and has played before some of the royal families. Miss Steckel has appeared in private and public concerts in and around San Diego recently, and on February 15th she is to appear with the Student Guild symphony orchestra, and on March 28 will have a concert in Escondido.

Aside from being a talented musician Miss Steckel has gained recognition in book reviewing and is employed as X-ray technician for Dr. L. C. Kinney of San Diego.

Her program will be as follows: Nocturne (Shumann); valse, E Minor (Chopin); L'Alouette (Glinka-Balakirew); Humoresque (Rachmaninoff); Girl With the Flaxen Hair (Debussey); Gardens In the Rain (Debussey).

Augmenting the musical program, the program chairman will present Arthur F. Corey, assistant superintendent of Orange county schools, who will speak on "What Is Education?" Mr. Corey is a student and speaker of prominence and has appeared on lecture platforms thruout the state.

Sierra Rose Club Organized Here

The nucleus of a rose garden club had its inception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Eager on West Workman avenue Sunday afternoon. This club will be known as the Sierra Rose society, and those who attended the organization meeting were Dr. and Mrs. George E. Baxter of Glendora, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. van Barneveld of Puente, Mrs. Harvey F. Parker of San Dimas, H. I. Bennett and Mrs. Florence Tripp of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Poppen of Claremont, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Brown, Mrs. Elbert Fisher, Mrs. C. C. Toland, Madame Ellen Beach Yaw, and the hosts of Covina.

Mr. Eager is connected with the California Rose association, whose acreage is in Puente, and during the afternoon he gave practical demonstrations of preparing the rosebed, the correct planting and pruning of bushes, and the proper cutting of blossoms. After dark Mr. Eager showed colored motion pictures of rose culture, gardens, and bouquet arrangements, after which those present enjoyed a basket supper.

This organization will be affiliated with the National Rose society and the California Garden club, Inc., and thru these connections members will have access to outstanding private gardens in all parts of the United States and some countries of the world, especially those of Japan and Italy.

VIRTUOSO

MARGARET STECKEL,
Concert pianist, who will appear on a program Monday at the Woman's club.

Oscar Anderson, Mildred Canfield Wedding Held

The marriage of Oscar P. Anderson to Miss Mildred Canfield took place at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Keady in Pasadena Saturday evening. Following the wedding ceremony, which was attended by a few close friends, the party went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller in Monterey Park for a wedding supper, after which they returned to Covina, where they have just completed a new home on Hollenbeck street in Adams park, and where they will make their home.

Mr. Anderson is the son of Otto Anderson of East Rowland avenue. He was born in Covina, where he received his early schooling. He is at present employed with the California Consumers' Ice company in Los Angeles.

Miss Canfield is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Canfield of Burr Oak, Kansas. She is a graduate nurse and has been employed on special duty at the local hospital for some time. She wore as her bridal attire a suit of brown, with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds and hyacinths. During the past few weeks Mrs. Anderson has been complimented with several social affairs by friends in Los Angeles.

Films Glorify American Home, Forum Told

Most outstanding contribution of the American motion picture is that it spreads over the world the desirability of the American home, was the manner in which Mrs. Sarah McLean Mullen characterized an important factor of the modern motion picture in her lecture before the adult forum of the evening high school last Monday night.

Mrs. R. W. Cleghorn, president of the Wednesday Morning club of Los Angeles, and a resident of Covina, introduced Mrs. Mullen, whose lecture was sponsored by the Little Theater group. "The Place of the Motion Picture in the World of Today and Tomorrow" was the topic.

Extensive financial aspects of the motion picture industry were stressed, and the fact that it has world-wide effects in many industries was indicated. Enormous quantities of lumber, paint, plastics, cotton, fabrics, metals, and technical machines play no small part in the commerce of the United States and many other countries.

Efforts of other countries, particularly England and Germany, to establish a film industry that would compete with that of the United States was described. Also, the fact that pictures are shown the world over before many races and types of peoples. They cover the globe from the tropics to the arctic regions, the only limiting factor being the availability of electric current.

Influence of public-spirited organizations, particularly the National Legion of Decency, to improve the quality and secure higher standards of pictures were described. This organization rates pictures as of A, B, or C grade, the first being decent and satisfactory, the second having some good features, and the third being condemned. During the past year the critics of this organization have told the board of the National Producers' association what proposed pictures would be condemned. This board has responded to their recommendations. Some independent producers have disregarded their recommendations, and undesirable films have resulted.

RADIO INFLUENCE

Charles Frederick Lindsley is prorector of the radio program "Calling All Cars," speaks at the adult forum of the evening high school next Monday night. Dr. Lindsley is professor of speech education at Occidental college. He has a long and extensive experience in radio broadcasting, having appeared weekly over southern California stations for a period of years.

"The Place of the Radio in the World of Today and Tomorrow" will be the topic. The content of the lecture will cover the objectives and opportunities that broadcasting has before it; the organization back of national radio activities; some functions of the federal radio commission; technique necessary for presenting a radio program; the part it is to play in the future life of the world; and other phases of educational value. The Little Theater group of Covina is acting as sponsor.

Howard Dodenhoff Weds at Long Beach

The marriage of Howard Dodenhoff and Miss Korein Gilkison of Long Beach took place January 3 at the Presbyterian manse in Long Beach with Rev. Graham Hunter officiating, according to announcements made this week by the young couple. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dodenhoff, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, and left immediately following the ceremony to spend a week at Bakersfield before returning to Covina, where they will make their home.

Mr. Dodenhoff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Dodenhoff of Covina, where he has spent his entire life, being at the present employed at the Buick garage.

Miss Gilkison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gilkison of Glendora, and has recently been making her home in Long Beach. Miss Gilkison wore as her bridal attire a street dress of rust with brown accessories.

Pythian Sisters Begin New Year

Thursday evening of last week the first meeting of the new year was held at Pythian castle hall by the members of the local Pythian Sisters lodge. Mrs. Harry Shank, newly-installed presiding officer, conducted the regular meeting, after which the "Mystery Sisters" of the group were revealed and the evening was spent informally.

Refreshments were served in the banquet hall by the committee in charge, including Mrs. Caroline Casey, Mrs. Mable Cole, and Mrs. Ethel Russell.

Speaking of clever invitations, how's this: Dear Biddy, just a note to remind you of the first "flocking" of us "Covina Hens." We'll "roost" in ———"poultry house" and all we "clucks" will be "setting" around waiting for you about seven-thirty ——— evening. Bring plenty of "cut-cut-ca-ducats" (news in other words) so we all can have a good "squawk." "Scratchingly" yours" . . . (Kinda looks like self-preservation demands attendance to this affair).

Adding a touch of sophistication to the floor show were Clark and Dexter, comedy team from the Trocadero, and best of all, Johnny Kiado, accordionist of Henry King's orchestra and Paramount studios, whose personality was worth the admission price.

Eva Edwards Talks Before P.-T. A. Group

In her talk before the grammar school Parent-Teacher association meeting Tuesday afternoon, Miss Eva D. Edwards gave several examples of ways in which "education may aid physical fitness." These examples were of the work that is being done in the Claremont schools, where she is supervising principal, and where many of the children are of foreign birth.

Home-making is stressed, and means in which a child may help himself to overcome physical handicaps is another example of education along new lines in the schools. Miss Edwards gave an enthusiastic talk, filled with ideas that will be useful to the parent as well as to the teachers.

Mrs. R. W. Ninneman, president, presided over a discussion of plans for "father's night," February 16, when an evening meeting will be held that will be of special interest to the fathers.

Mrs. Fred Sheard was assisted in serving tea by Mrs. Jack Vaughan and Mrs. R. W. Burns.

Cleghorns to Fete Oakland Guest

Mrs. J. P. Latrouel of Oakland, who is a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cleghorn of Barranca street, is to be honored by her hosts with a dinner party Sunday evening. Seasonal decorations will be used, and covers will be laid for the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Doxie, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hurst, Mr. and Mrs. James Burkey, Mr. and Mrs. Ted McClelland, all of Los Angeles, and Miss Dorothy Ellen Cleghorn of Westwood, Bud Cleghorn, and the hosts.

Today Mrs. Latrouel is to be complimented with a luncheon given by Mrs. Arlow A. Watson of Alhambra at the Chapel inn in Duarte. Thursday she was a guest of Mrs. Cleghorn's at the Dionysion club meeting in Los Angeles, and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Cleghorn took her to a performance of "Club Royale" given by the Verdugo Hills players. Wednesday Mrs. Cleghorn and her guest attended the thirty-ninth birthday celebration of the Wednesday Morning club of Los Angeles, of which Mrs. Cleghorn is the president, and on Tuesday they were luncheon guests at the home of Mrs. Horace Blum of Los Angeles. Monday they motored to Westwood, where they were joined by Miss Cleghorn for luncheon at Lucca cafe in Hollywood and a matinee.

Business Women Hear Talk on Fingerprints

Harry Rogers, chief fingerprint expert of the Los Angeles county sheriff's office, spoke to the thirty-eight members of the Business and Professional Women's club Tuesday evening at their dinner meeting at Pedersen's cafe.

Mr. Rogers gave an interesting review of fingerprinting since its inception 2000 years ago in China, and told of the modern-day system of taking and filing these prints, citing cases in which this method of identification played an important part. He was introduced to his listeners by Ruth Hepner, program chairman.

On February 10, members of the ten clubs of the inland council will be guests of the Covina club at a dinner and meeting here, the place to be announced later.

The executive board and the book review section of the club plan to hold a joint meeting following a dinner at the home of Mrs. C. L. Johnston of Orange street on February 2.

Mrs. Aschenbrenner Talks at Modesto

Mrs. Bess Aschenbrenner and Miss Ida Lovell of Mt. Pleasanton, Utah, spent last week in Oakland, San Francisco and Modesto. In Oakland they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Buhn, and in Modesto the guests of Mrs. Arthur Crabb. In Modesto Mrs. Aschenbrenner addressed the members of the garden club, of which Mrs. Crabb is president, at a luncheon meeting, talking on gardening. Among those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Tredway, the former a former high school teacher in Covina.

Woman's Club Section Day Diversified

The first Woman's club section day meeting of the new year was held at the clubhouse on Monday, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning and continuing thruout the day.

Following a short business meeting and discussion on the forthcoming benefit drama tea to be given February 26, Mrs. L. L. Ratekin reviewed the current New York hit, "Idiot's Delight," which has been awarded the 1936 Pulitzer prize for the drama section. This play is a well-written satire on the futility of war and is considered by many critics, among whom is Mrs. Jack Vallely, lecturer who appears monthly at the high school forum, as the finest play on Broadway.

Tryouts for the play to be produced at the drama tea will be held at the clubhouse this evening at 7 p.m. The play, "The Rescue," is in one act, with a cast of three, and will be produced by the Little Theater group of Covina.

Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish, former president of the Hollywood Bowl association and present executive manager of the Philharmonic orchestra in Los Angeles, was the guest speaker of the literature-in-the making section, and she spoke on the relationship of symphony music to world affairs and implied that Los Angeles was rapidly becoming one of the music centers of the world, attracting great conductors from all parts of the world and producing symphonies. She told of Otto Klemperer's enthusiasm for the artistry displayed by Francia White at one of his concerts last season. In closing Mrs. Irish urged the support of the southland's clubwomen in the fields of music.

Luncheon was served at noon by members of the Bible section, after which the radio section presented a one-act play, "My Boy Friday," by Leota Summerhays, section curator. The cast included Calvin Reed, Edna Mae Summerhays, Stanley Nigg, Tommy Hurley, David Smith, Iris Neighbours, Dorothy Hayman, Kathleen Lavayea, and Evelyn McCart, all of the grammar school.

At the close of the play, J. C. McMullen, western representative of the Baker Play company, talked to the group on playwriting and production. He stressed the importance of presenting worth-while plays with carefully selected casts, and urged the members not to try plays which were unsuited to the place and type of audience. Mr. McMullen is the author of some forty or fifty plays, and in an informal discussion gave suggestions on one and three-act playwriting.

Emphasizing the importance of modern cooking and modern equipment, Janet W. Germain, head of the Southern California Edison company home economics department, spoke informally to the household arts division. The latter half of the period was given over to the discussion of foreign recipes and unusual ideas for entertainment by Mrs. Germain.

BETHEL HOLDS SKATE

San Gabriel valley bethel of Job's Daughters sponsored a skate at the Lincoln park rink Friday evening. Fourteen members were present and they were accompanied by Mrs. Forest Walker and Mrs. Campbell of Baldwin Park.

The next regular meeting of the organization will be Saturday afternoon at the Covina Masonic temple.

"Club Royale" Presented in Verdugo Hills

"Club Royale," the play written by Leota Summerhays, in collaboration with Rev. Henry Scott Rubel of Glendora, had its second production this week, at the Verdugo Hills Little Theater, under the direction of Harrison Ford. The production is being shown four nights, starting with Tuesday evening, and was produced in a manner similar to the original one given in Covina some weeks ago by the local Little Theater group under the direction of Miss Beulah Yeager.

Ralph Nye, local young man with considerable acting ability, and a member of the original cast, was also a member of the cast of Mr. Ford's production, taking his original part of Holmes Van Dyke, a wealthy man. His work was outstanding among that of other members of the cast.

A number of members of the original cast and of the Covina Little Theater group attended the opening night in Verdugo Hills, among them being Mrs. Summerhays and her son, Edgar, and a party of friends, Miss Yeager, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Mallard and their guests, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Samuels, Mrs. William P. Nye, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Huntington, Mrs. Minnie Thurber, Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Hoffland, Mrs. Earl Colver, and Mrs. Carl Shirley.

Lambersons Honor Kansas Visitors

Complimenting Mr. and Mrs Frank Dundey of Kansas, Mrs. Augusta Lamberson of Pusnte road entertained with a dinner party on Monday evening. Attractive decorations were used and places were marked for the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wyre and two children, Ernest and Edith of Baldwin Park, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Robbins and daughter, Margaret, Miss Mary Garvey and Ralph Barker of Covina.

Mr. and Mrs. Dundey, who were former neighbors of Mrs. Lamberson in Kansas, are spending an indefinite time in the southland visiting relatives and friends.

A Winter Playland—

Motor vehicles forced improvement of roads in the valleys, afterwards demanding that mountain areas be made accessible.

Before the coming of the automobile, dwellers in the California valleys looked up at snow-capped mountains in the winter, but had no real knowledge of the great snowpack in those inaccessible regions. We were not snow-conscious.

Today, one strolls along the main street of a southern California town and encounters a group engaged in snow-balling, with snow brought in on running boards, and even on the tops of cars. We have the almost daily story in winter of groups marooned behind snow blockades at the mountain camps. California is nearly as snow-conscious as is the middle west and east. Motor cars whizz along the boulevards with skis strapped to the running boards, on the way to Big Bear or Arrowhead lakes, where there often is a snowfall of from two to eight feet in depth. The journey, if the roads are not blocked, will take but three hours from Los Angeles, two hours from Covina.

We should rejoice that young people especially are given the opportunity of indulging in snow sports, even as some of us have happy memories of sledding and skating in the country "back yonder." California has the sunshine the year around, and today we have too the sports that make winter enjoyable in other regions. We can thank the motor vehicle for the bringing of these diversified pleasures.

Anticipating the Weather—

Floyd D. Young, the citrus district's quiet-voiced Paul-Revere-of-the-Air, who intones temperatures over KNX nightly, is not a wizard, he says, when interviewed, nor does he do any guessing. He compiles weather figures from many sources that pour in upon him from the government stations and scientific bureaus.

That he seldom is out of the way more than one or two degrees in announcing minimum temperatures, even three days ahead, seems uncanny, but it is the result merely of the advancement in laboratory work, and of communication. When a polar air-wave is coming our way it can't travel as fast as radio waves that tell of its progress. Ships at sea may not arrive in port for many days, but the facts they send by wireless concerning storms and their velocity and direction are given us as often as required. Science is revolutionizing industry, agriculture, as well as giving new trends to the social habits of mankind.

If the radio had been in operation on the night before the Battle of Lexington, there would have been no ride by Paul Revere, and perhaps no battle. But even at that, those frost warning broadcasts contain high drama if you live in the orchard districts and know what they portend.

For Our Own Good—

Where every grower heats his orchard and loses only 10 to 15 per cent of the crop, the loss may be a benefit, accruing in higher prices for the fruit remaining marketable.

Where an orchardist does not protect his fruit and loses all of it, the loss to him is an economic tragedy. But, during recent years, when crop surpluses have made necessary drastic prorates in order to maintain prices, an act of nature that removes a portion of the crop works to an advantage rather than a penalty.

The problem is to get the good fruit onto the market without including damaged fruit, for the damaged fruit will pull down the entire price average. Marketing agencies realize this, and are cooperating with the state department of agriculture to prevent frozen fruit shipments.

When to Salute—

At the Tournament of Roses, and other such spectacles, conscientious spectators find themselves feeling ridiculous in attempting to salute every American flag that passes. They should be taught that such saluting is not required.

A military parade carries the flag at an advanced position ahead of each unit, such as a regiment, or complete contingent. When the flag is passing it rates a salute from the inspecting officer and all on the sidelines.

Parade committees should discourage the use of the flag indiscriminately in parades. The American Legion and other ex-service organizations enter their flags in mass formation, the units following behind, and perhaps interspersed in the parade. Organizations that carry flags held by individual marchers do not rate a salute. The flag is the standard of a compact unit. Salute the standards in their proper places at the head of units.

Vitamin Parade—

While the battle rages between Florida and California growers over whose oranges have the most vitamins A and C, a new nail polish appears on the market supposed to contain vitamin G.

Verily, the vitamin has come into its own. A few years ago everything had to be ironized, then vegetized, now vitamized. Calories have paled into insignificance beside vitamins. Nobody worries any more about too much starch—we worry about not enough vitamins.

It wouldn't be so bad if we just let the vitamins fall where they may, but we have to outdo nature and add them to anything capable of being swallowed. Vitamins have been sprinkled in milk, stirred into cod liver oil, baked into crackers, boiled into candy, and even dunked in wines.

We long for the simple days when a dish of cereal was a dish of cereal, instead of 53½ Chase and Sherman units of one vitamin and 93¾ of another.—Beverly Hills Citizen.

Damning Evidence—

One of our valley service clubs had the president, secretary and a couple of other members dressed up as the Four Marx Brothers recently, and performing for the benefit of the meeting. A local photographer snapped the quartet in the midst of their antics, and it made a very good newspaper feature.

All will be well, unless at some future date any one of these men appears before a court, and the lawyer says: "What is your reputation in your community for dignity, sobriety, sanity and general trustworthiness?" He may stoutly maintain that he is an honest citizen of character, but will the lawyer pull out that photograph and submit it as exhibit A?

Secrets of Success—

William A. Johnstone of San Dimas, former member of the legislature, state water commissioner, public servant in many capacities in the past several decades, has begun his fourth term as chairman of the Los Angeles county civil service commission, a post that expires in 1941.

In the past, his wide and valued services to the people have been enumerated, but there is one distinction that should be mentioned, which is that he has been a steady and consistent subscriber to the Covina Argus for more than thirty years. Mr. Johnstone does not attribute his success in life altogether to reading the Argus, but there is a connection there somewhere that might be reflected upon by the ambitious.

Then and Now—

Several annual meetings of fruit associations and irrigating companies were postponed during the recent cold spell. Stockholders were too busy filling orchard heating pots during the day and fighting frost at night.

After all, the reports of the past year can wait, and turkey dinners will taste as well or better after the emergency is past. And then, too, these annual meetings are not as exciting as they used to be in the olden days. Efficiency, which is what the old-timers demanded so vociferously, has arrived, and it has taken most of the fight out of these annual gatherings.

Such Is Fame—

In reporting the subfreezing weather in southern California, Chicago newspapers announced that the Los Angeles river was frozen over so hard that it was possible to walk across it. They don't know that we operate our rivers underground except at infrequent flood intervals. This is the river that Engineer Mulholland referred to many years ago as a perfectly good river, only it needed to be irrigated.

"Lucky" Baldwin's Daughter Signs Property Pact

A prenuptial agreement concerning property acquired before marriage, and stipulating that neither can inherit the property of the other, was filed last week in the county recorder's office between Joseph L. Atkinson and his wife, the former Mrs. Rosebud Mullender, daughter of the late Mrs. Clara Baldwin Stocker, granddaughter of the noted horseman, E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin.

Mrs. Mullender's marriage to Atkinson was solemnized in Puente two months ago by the Rev. Father Felix Sheridan, and was only briefly noted at that time. Atkinson is a Carlsbad, Texas, rancher and reputed to be the owner of large acreages in that state.

In the will of Clara Baldwin Stocker the daughter, Rosebud, and a son, Albert E. Snyder, were bequeathed the bulk of Mrs. Stocker's estate, including large holdings in the Puente and West Covina area. The former Mrs. Mullender is very well known in Covina, where she has been for many years a participant in the affairs of the Catholic church of the Sacred Heart.

DeFount Declines Chamber Position

Irl DeFount, for the past three years president of the Baldwin Park chamber of commerce, and active in this organization for longer periods, has declined to run for this position this year, giving ill health as his reason.

During his incumbency he became quite well known in Covina, as he cooperated on many occasions with the local chamber and with the city council. Nominations for the office of president are James Steele, T. T. Thompson and Harold Hickox. N. W. Kendall was nominated as treasurer.

Miss Lilian Douglass and her houseguest, Miss Stone, and Mrs. George Jennings motored to Laguna for the day on Tuesday.

"Uncle Jim" Cuzner Given Final Tribute

For more than three decades the name of Cuzner has been hyphenated with that of Kerckhoff in the Kerckhoff-Cuzner Mill and Lumber company in this valley.

Only pioneers remembered the connection, for the Cuzner family had not been active in the business in late years. The death a week ago Tuesday of James Cuzner, 88 years old, removed this link with the past which extended back to the earliest subdivisions of the towns in the upper San Gabriel valley. He died at the home of his son, Guy L. Cuzner, in Los Angeles.

When he was active in the business he was known in Azusa and thruout the valley as "Uncle Jim" by everyone. He was at all times much interested in the development of the San Gabriel canyon as a pleasure resort, and owned the old Creole club in the canyon.

County Would Take More Race Funds

Los Angeles county supervisors this week referred to Hal W. Kennedy, deputy county counsel now at Sacramento, a draft of a proposed new horse racing bill that would give the county a larger percentage of the "take" from the races under the pari-mutuel system.

Supervisor Gordon McDonough said he believed "public sentiment is favorable to the public receiving a greater share of the money taken in at these races." Other supervisors said they "didn't know enough about it," and thought it should go to the county counsel's office.

Clubwomen Plan Orient Motif With Pictures

Out-of-the-way and interesting places in the countries of the orient are to be shown in colored motion pictures by Dr. W. P. Magan at the oriental dinner being given by the members of the Woman's club on Tuesday evening, January 26, at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Magan, with his wife and daughter, Margaret, spent four months this fall in the orient, where he took 4700 feet of colored film. He will show some of the finest of these, including some pictures of the Chinese wall at Peiping, and subjects in Korea. He brought home with him a Korean costume, which he expects to wear, and Margaret Magan and her chum, Patsy Reynolds, will also wear the modern Chinese dress. Miss Eva D. Edwards, also a recent visitor to the orient, will be a guest of the club for dinner and the evening and will wear the beautiful new modern Chinese evening dress which she received from Chinese friends as a Christmas gift.

Members of the board and guests, many of them, are wearing Chinese costumes, and it is expected to be a colorful affair.

Mrs. Irven Reynolds will have charge of the preparation of the turkey dinner, assisted in the kitchen by Mrs. J. K. Ingalls and Mrs. V. C. Isaacs. Assisting Mrs. Reynolds are Mrs. Ralph White, Mrs. Leroy Eikenberry, Mrs. E. H. Walters, and Mrs. Claude Searcy. Mrs. Ardin Hotchkiss is in charge of decorations, assisted by Mrs. F. J. Cline, Jr., Mrs. Hugh Burton, and Mrs. Paul Funk.

Smoke Fails to Stop Bridge Lessons

Despite the heavy clouds of smoke that enveloped the valley Wednesday afternoon, seventy devotees of the game of contract bridge gathered at the Woman's clubhouse for the first of a series of bridge lessons being given by Mrs. Fay Moses and her assistant, Mrs. Smith. The first lesson covered many preliminaries and Mrs. Moses has offered to give this lesson to any group that wishes to continue with the original group of the season.

Before the lesson hour dessert was served by Mrs. George Ernsberger, curator of the bridge section, assisted by Mrs. Henry Persons, Mrs. Phillip Kerckhoff, Mrs. Porter Kerckhoff, Mrs. I. F. Nance, Mrs. Harry Farason, Mrs. E. A. Weegar, Mrs. Ralph White, and Mrs. Joe Cline, Jr.

BENEFIT BRIDGE PARTY

The members of the American Legion Auxiliary are entertaining with a benefit Valentine bridge party at Memorial hall on Friday afternoon, February 5, at 2:30. Both contract and auction bridge will be played and prizes given for high scores. At the close of the afternoon refreshments will be served.

Record Cold Wave Perils Southland Citrus Orchards

every operator that could be accommodated with a station was on duty in double shifts. Normal load of local calls is 20,000 per day, M. E. McIntosh stated, but yesterday it jumped to 36,000. Long distance calls normally 1500 per day jumped to 2000. He praised his staff for heroic work in attempting to keep lines open and answer the greatly-accelerated call-board. The manager appeared before the Covina Rotary yesterday, and made an appeal that phone subscribers refrain from overloading the call system as much as possible. He asked that all unnecessary calls be reduced to a minimum.

SMOKE FAILS TO RISE

Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, the smoke-pall was so great that it partially demoralized traffic on the Pacific Electric railroad lines, delaying trains that were obliged to creep thru the murk at greatly-reduced speed. All automobile and truck traffic on the main boulevards slowed to 18 or 20 miles an hour during the night, and during the day until noon few drivers dared to exceed 30 miles an hour. Lights were burned in all stores and homes till noon of Wednesday.

By 10 o'clock on Tuesday night the smoke was so thick that men out reading key thermometers for the frost warning office lost their way, and in some cases were delayed for an hour or more in finding their way back to the Covina office. Difficulty in finding intersections was universal with all traffic, with some instances of ranchers attempting to find their way to their ranches and becoming lost in the "smog."

TRAFFIC IMPEDED

On Holt avenue and the Foothill boulevard, traffic officers from the state department and from the sheriff's substations stood at important intersections and attempted to guide the traffic. Several rear-end crashes, besides numerous near-collisions occurred in spite of the anxious caution of most drivers. Visibility was lower than in the densest of fogs, state traffic men said, reduced to 20 feet at night and 100 feet after daylight.

In the Tuesday night and Wednesday morning battle, Los Angeles city escaped the greater portion of the drifting carbon because of a wind blowing from the west. Most of the smoke was carried to Orange county and into the Long Beach area, drifting out to sea in those regions. Reason for the excessive smoke-pall was given two bases by weather experts, first, the universal lighting of pots early Tuesday night, and the fact that temperatures were low early in the evening. Cold air at high altitudes prevented the smoke from rising rapidly. It clung over the ground area during the night, and failed to dissipate as rapidly as in conditions where the upper strata was warmer.

UPPER AIR COLD

From airplane recordings the upper air was found to be the coldest of any night this year, with readings as low as 15 below zero at 8000 feet. The cold wave had its origin in Alaskan and Canadian areas, driving temperatures to the lowest point in years over the state as an average.

James R. Hodges Dies at Hospital

man of genial disposition, a great friend-maker, and a lover of music. For a lifetime he derived great pleasure from playing the banjo and guitar, and had one of the largest collections of old songs, mostly contained in his mind, of any known in the state. He was always called upon at valley entertainments, especially those sponsored by the pioneers. A full account of his long life of usefulness is being prepared for publication later.

Mr. Hodges leaves, besides his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Vivyenne E. Campbell of Los Angeles; three sons, Dr. A. Clarence Hodges, member of the faculty of Temple university, Philadelphia; Louis A. Hodges, Covina city councilman; James G. Hodges, manager of Valencia Heights Orchards, Inc., and president of the chamber of commerce.

Longworths Mourn Death of Friend

A. H. Longworth and family, of Longworth's restaurant, were this week mourning the death of a very old and valued friend in the person of James H. Grant, 78, who had on many occasions been a visitor in Covinia.

The venerable man died in Bakersfield last Thursday, leaving a daughter, Marie, and a grandson, James. His wife died many years ago. The Longworths were intimately acquainted with the family years ago in the Taft oilfields. Mr. Grant was for fifty-seven years a member of the Knights of Pythias. He was superintendent of bridges and buildings for the Santa Fe for many years, but was noted in the oilfields as an exceptional mechanic and a man who got more production out of the wells than any other man to operate in that region.
